THE SCOOP

Hi, my name is Aaron Seedorf.

I've always been fascinated by design since I was a kid. I was curious how things went from an idea to being out there in the real world. When I finished college in 2002 I was thrilled to go out into the world and begin my exciting career in design and be able to see the things that I designed taking shape out in the real world.

After about two years of being a Graphic Designer I found myself getting immersed into website design and managing websites for companies, which ultimately led to a major shift in my career. I was now in the whole new world of web design and development and there was no turning back!

Since making the shift to website design I have made it my career and I have way too much fun doing it. There is something about creating a design and then developing it out and watching it come to life for people to interact with. I love the way code can be written and manipulated in so many ways to literally create exactly what I see in my head no matter how complex it is.

Designing websites and writing code is not only my career, but it's a calming mathematical hobby for me. Piecing the puzzle together on each project is fascinating and rewarding – and there is always something new to discover and learn every day. I enjoy what I do and I look forward to doing what I do every day!

A little more about me...

I am a husband and father of two kids. My daughter is 7 and my son is 9. Family is absolutely everything to me.

We are big into camping, adventure and the outdoors.

I have been a serious surfer since I was 10 years old. The ocean is in my blood.

I do mean pen and ink and pencil artwork, and I paint like crazy as well, both acrylic and oil and implement some crazy materials into art as well.

I love to cook and get creative with meals. I go nuts in the kitchen – cooking food is another form of art to me.

I can play guitar, drums, used to DJ all over LA and OC and love to produce original music via synthesizer and the computer as a hobby.

I like to make one-off fun shirts and hats and get them printed.

Since the pandemic started, my son and I got into playing VR together – it's FUN!!!

I hope to hear from you soon!

Sincerely,
Aaron Seedorf
